OUTLOOK BRIGHTENS FOR RATIFICATION OF SUFFRAGE ACT BY TENNESSEE SOLONS

Influential Leaders Threw Their Weight Into the Fight Today.

18 SENATORS AGREE TO CAST VOTES TO RATIFY

Unofficial Tuesday Poll Shows Anti-Suffragists Behind in the Senate.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., August 10.—Three things have clarified the air and made the prospect of ratification of the Federal suffrage amendment by the extraordinary session of the Tennessee general assembly, which convened here Monday, much brighter. These are:

First—The influence of Governor Robert's message to the legislature "earnestly and urgently recommending" ratification without delay.

Second—The attitude of the Republican caucus.

Third—The "ret-together" of the various factions of Democratic women on the steering committee.

The personal influence of Governor Roberts and of U. S. Senator McKellar is behind the Democratic members of the legislature and is having a powerful influence on those who heretofore have been non-committal or who were yielding to the blandishments of the anti-suffragists.

Senator McKellar Monday afternoon took an unofficial poll of the senate where the stiffest fight is expected. He announced that he had assurances from 18 senators that they would vote "aye" on the ratification.

COX STANDS PAT

(International News Service) DAYTON, O., Aug. 10.—A group of anti-suffragists at a conference last night tried to sway Governor James M. Cox away from suffrage ratification but they failed. Governor Cox told them that he was going to "stand pat." He talked to the anti-suffrage group at length and said that he was going to do everything he could to get the Tennessee legislature to ratify.

"Morning After" Brings Usual Fine

The morning after the night before proved at the Decatur City hall today that nocturnal affairs are not what they are cracked up to be.

Mayor Nelson had a big job before him when four negroes, three women and one man, were brought before him.

Velma Daily and Lucille Hays were the first two to appear on the morning docket. They were accused of fighting on Bank Street, one of Decatur's main thoroughfares. The shooting occurred about 10:30 last night and no cause was known.

The Daily woman did the shooting and slightly wounded the Hays woman in the foot, it was alleged. The former was fined $20.00 and costs. She was represented by Attorney W. W. Callahan. The latter was forced to dig deep to the tune of $53.50. They were arrested by Officer A. S. Grubbs.

The other two cases to appear before Mayor Nelson were on charges of fighting and gaming. The former was fined $15.00 and the bone roller got his by the $17.50 route. The grand total for the morning was brought to $164.60.

TRAINMAN IS SHOT BY BOLD-BANDIT

(International News Service) CHICAGO, Aug. 10.—J. P. Cobb, steward of the Chicago express train on the Pennsylvania railroad, died in a local hospital here this morning from a gunshot wound suffered in an attempted holdup of the train as it was pulling into Chicago shortly before midnight. Railroad detectives and city police are searching the southside today for Cobb's killer.

LITTLE WOMAN OF IMPULSE HAS A WONDERFUL VISION

View of Mrs. Curry's sister's estate, where Mike is now a guest and an insert of the "woman of impulse."

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Aug. 10.—"First thoughts are always best. I have always had my own way and never can get used to any other method."

Mrs. Marion Gilhooley - Lawrie - White-Curry, now thirty-two years old, and a creature of impulse for as long back as she can remember, said this several years ago. Today this psychological trait is as strong as ever in the woman in whose life many unusual events have occurred.

Mrs. Curry, whose adoption of the famous stowaway, Michael Gilhooley, was the most recent incident to bring her into the limelight, has just declared in the Supreme Court that she has no funds with which to pay an indebtedness of $1,900, it represents a loan made to her.

"But," she assured the Court. "I will be in easy circumstances again soon: I went into this deal on an impulse and I know I am going to be successful."

The deal, she explained, is a business venture with substantial bankers, Max E. Levine, attorney for her creditors, said he was satisfied to abide by Mrs. Curry's latest "impulse," and consented to an adjournment of her examination to August 12.

A plaything of fate, as she has called herself, Mrs. Curry appears supremely confident of her financial future and that of her ward from overseas, young Mike Gilhooley; in fact, that lucky lad's future is already safely provided for, she has said, though she herself is penniless.

Here are some of the impulses in Mrs. Curry's eventful career: Impulse No. 1.—In 1906 she eloped with Frederick Ellis Lawrie, private secretary to John W. Gates. She openly admitted it was an impulse and succeeded in keeping the ceremony secret from her father, Judge Patrick H. Gilhooley, of Elizabeth N. J. But she lost her purse in a street car and in it was the marriage certificate and the news of the marriage soon became public.

Impulse No. 2.—As Mrs. Lawrie she disappeared "on an impulse." After two weeks she obtained parental forgiveness and left for Europe. A divorce was obtained. Mrs. Lawrie said frankly that the divorce, like the marriage, was started on an impulse.

Impulse No. 3.—When Mrs. Lawrie met Walter C. White, of Cleveland, on one of her many impulsive trips abroad, the impulse seized her again and she entered her second marriage. White, a millionaire and daredevil driver of automobiles, which he and his father manufactured, said he could not cope with his wife's impulsive ways. A separation followed.

Impulse No. 4.—On her separation from White another impulse compelled Mrs. Lawrie-White to wed again after she studied music abroad and announced her "impulse" to gain fame on the concert stage. Too many "impulses" are said to have caused Mr. Curry, the third husband, to seek refuge in China.

Impulse No. 5.—Her adoption of Mike Gilhooley, fifteen years old, Mike, of Belgian-Irish parentage, had made five attempts to land in this country by secreted himself in ships. He had been deported four times and on the fifth attempt the impulsive Mrs. Curry came to his rescue. She said no one by the name of Gilhooley would be kept out of America if she could prevent it. She took Mike straightaway to the Hotel Vendicelli, where Mike learned what a finger bowl looked like. He is now at the

OCEAN SMALL FOR MIXED BATHING

SHAPELY ANNETTES TO FROLIC IN ATLANTIC—PACIFIC FOR MALES

(International News Service)

ATLANTA, Ga., Aug. 10.—Women must bathe in the Atlantic, men must bathe in the Pacific, children must bathe in the Mississippi and the Gulf of Mexico, according to a bill which will be introduced in the Senate by Senator George G. Glenn as a substitute for men and women using the same pools together. Senator Glenn avows that his bill will insure segregation.

"A bill to be entitled an act to actually encourage bathing, manuring, hair cutting, shaving, washing, cleanliness and even foot washing in this State" is to be the caption of the Glenn substitute. Senator Glenn announces that he is hard at work upon the preparation of his substitute, having engaged the help of a competent corps of ten stenographers for the purpose—and that he has sent a wire to Neptune notifying him of the coming invasion of the Pacific by the men and has instructed this ruler of the sea to remove all mermaids from the Western ocean.

Senator Glenn's substitute will suggest that all persons, whether non compos mentis or otherwise, be required to take a bath annually, whether they think they need it or not; that they occasionally wash their faces; semi-annually cut their hair on a grindstone or on an emery wheel; manure their finger nails and toenails; cut their undergarments or bathing suits with a circular saw and, if necessary, use any kind of remedies to increase circulation; that all men bathe in the Pacific, all females in the Atlantic and all children in the Mississippi or Gulf of Mexico, in order to absolutely insure segregation.

That all women wear hoop skirts, with weight attachments, and that all men wear Mother Hubbards, without cord attachments, and that all kiddies simply be clad in sunshine and robed as only Nature created them, to increase growth, etc. That all parks, ponds, rivers or oceans where females placed around the same ground glass or spikes, or electrically charged wires, to insure the non-presence of males, and that all females be disfranchised who spy upon men.

Farewell Meeting Held Tonight for Salvation Lassie

A farewell meeting will be held at 8 o'clock tonight at the Salvation Army home, 122 West Lafayette street, for Miss Mattie Tackett, member of the local corps, who has been transferred to Dothan, Ala. A cordial invitation has been extended to the public to attend the meeting.

Miss Tackett, who is a local girl, has sold the War Cry in the Twin Cities for many years and has made many friends who will receive with pleasure announcement of her promotion to a larger field of work.

FINAL DRIVE BEING MADE TO COMPLETE SCHOOL CENSUS IN THE CITY OF ALBANY

Many Are Thought to Have Been Missed During the Enumeration.

ASKED TO SEND NAMES TO SUPT. R. W. COWART

Figures This Year Expected to Show Marked Gain, He Declares.

A final drive in the school census in Albany is being made today by Superintendent R. W. Cowart, following a meeting of the school board last night, when the belief was expressed that many persons of school age had been missed during the count in July and August.

In a public statement today Supt. Cowart requests the names of all persons over six years of age and under twenty-one in the city. The school appropriations from the state are based on the number of persons of school age in each community and the larger the number here, the larger will be the state appropriation.

The totals of the recent enumeration have not been made public, but this year's census is expected to show a marked increase over the last. All of the school buildings in Albany are crowded and already plans have been outlined for the erection of a handsome high school building on the school property on Gordon Drive and Fourth Avenue.

File Your Name

"In our advertisement in today's Daily, there is an attached coupon which I hope all persons who have not been enumerated will fill out and mail to me," said Superintendent Cowart today. "It is very important that our census figures show our true number of persons of school age. The school appropriations are based entirely on these figures. Naturally the more persons of school age we show, the larger will be our appropriation. We expect the figures to show a marked increase this year."

Superintendent Cowart also called attention to the fact that many people have a mistaken belief that their names should not be listed, if they have graduated or from other reasons have left school. The law makes no distinction, requiring the names of all persons between the ages of 6 and 21 years, whether the person is in school or out.

Girls' Skeleton is Found in a Barn

(International News Service) ONAWA, Iowa, Aug. 10.—The skeleton of a girl probably sixteen or eighteen years of age, has been found here in a barn loft. Indications are she was lured to the loft and murdered.

The victim's bones were covered with quicklime and rested on a Sioux City newspaper bearing the date of September 7, 1917. Police records are being scanned to ascertain if they contain any record of a girl disappearing about that date.

YOUTHFUL "MERCHANT" PUTS OUT SILK SKIRTS AT LOW-PRICE

"Too Low," Officers Believe and the Youngster Now is Sheriff's Guest.

Ye Gods! Just think how many of us missed the chance to head him before the long arm of the law reached out into the swamps and added to the popularity of the Morgan County bawler which up to this date had only two occupants and they are both of the colored variety. This latest addition to the family circle was made when Chief Deputy McGuthra got wise to a deal that was being pulled off about town. His clue was none other than a silk shirt.

A fifteen year old white moved into the regions known as the Tennessee Valley and it is said began putting out a good brand of shirt and at such a price that leaders in the clothing business declared an off day and visited the youthful phenom with the varied assortment of colors and styles. Another clue to the mystery was that the large wholesale firm of W. H. Aycock and Sons was broken into

Sunday night and the miscreant was being hunted.

Hearing all the stir about the famous Isaiah of the silk business, Deputy McGuthra hit the trail across the river and found the boy around Harris Station about four miles from Albany-Decatur. The boy when asked for his name immediately replied with so many different captions that the deputy began to wonder if he was a gang.

However it was found that he is only one and he is said to hail from Nashville, Tennessee. The shirts were found not to have been the loss of the merchants of Albany-Decatur. The boy will be held by Sheriff May to await developments.

Another story of the events leading up to the capture was said to have been told yesterday morning to the police officials, was that a certain party had bought a dozen of the silks for the small amount of 35 bucks. We missed it, we did and it's a sad world!

OLSHINE STORE IS CLOSED, STOCK IS SENT TO NASHVILLE

Olshine's Department Store, one of the largest in North Alabama, today closed its door for the last time and the stock was shipped to the Nashville branch of the Olshine chain. Harry Olshine, popular manager of the Decatur store, left for Nashville this afternoon. He will remain there two weeks and then go to Atlanta to make his future home. He will have charge of the new Olshine store being opened in the Georgia capital. The building occupied and owned by the establishment here was sold several months ago.

In a card to the public, Mr. Olshine expressed his deep regret at his departure from the Twin Cities.

"It is with deep regret that we take our departure from the Twin Cities," he declared. "When we opened our business 13 years ago, Decatur and Albany (then New Decatur) were small towns and we were small merchants. These beautiful towns grew and we hope we did our share in helping them grow. The many friends and patrons here helped us grow too and thanks to them our big department store was made possible."

BOARD OF REVENUE DELAYS ACTION ON ROAD BOND ISSUE

The Morgan County board of revenue again delayed final action on the petition for a $400,000 bond election for good roads, when the board met here Monday afternoon. The delay was caused by the absence of final figures on the tax assessments for this year, the basis on which bonds are calculated.

Little doubt is expressed that the election will be called immediately after receipt of the final assessment figures. The petition for the election sets forth the highways which are to be constructed. The petitions were signed freely, indicating an overwhelming in favor of a better highway system for the county. Under the plan suggested there would not be a farm in the county more than one mile from an improved road.

Children Buried to "Save" Lives

(International News Service) NEW YORK, August 10.—A deputy medical examiner who went to view the bodies of Jennie Stahurski, nine, and her brother Edward, two, who were killed by lightning in their home, found the little bodies in the rear yard buried up to the heads in mud and earth. A curious crowd of relatives and friends surrounded the spot.

"What does this mean?" the physician asked.

It was explained that they believed any one struck by lightning was only stunned and if buried to the head in the ground would be revived when the electricity was drawn out of them by the earth. It took the examiner a long time to convince them that the children were dead. "Well, it's only because we did not bury them quickly enough," one of the family insisted.

Record Fruit Crop Colorado Prospects

(International News Service) DENVER, Aug. 10.—Thirteen thousand refrigerated cars will be required to move Colorado's huge fruit crop this season, it was estimated here by the State Utilities Commission.

The Western slope reports a record-breaking fruit crop and growers in that section are making strenuous efforts to secure 9,000 cars for their peaches, pears and other fruits, while the Rocky Ford region, in Eastern Colorado, seek 4,000 cars for its output of melons.

Of the 13,000 cars 7,000 will have to be fully loaded.

The crop will be ready to move the middle of August.

RIFT IN CLOUDS OF WAR ARE SEEN AS ALLIES DECLINE TO REINFORCE POLES

"Stupid to Consider Mobilization" Premier, of France, Millerand Declared

TREATY OF VERSAILLES BE UPHELD BY ALLIES

Will See That Independence of the Polish Nation is Respected by Reds.

(International News Service)

PARIS, Aug. 10.—The war clouds lifted today. Premier Millerand who returned from Hythe, England, where he conferred Sunday and Monday with Premier Lloyd George, announced the question of French mobilization for war on Russia was not mentioned at the conference. "It would be stupid to consider such a thing," said the premier. Premier Millerand conferred throughout the morning with heads of the French government. He will meet the cabinet tomorrow.

"I am unable to discuss the result of the Hythe conference until after Premier Lloyd George has made his announcement to the British house of commons," continued the premier, "but at all events the treaty of Versailles, guaranteeing Polish independence, will be upheld."

According to the Petit Journal, the allies will favor the enrollment of former allied soldiers in the Polish army as volunteers. The allies are particularly anxious to bolster up the air and artillery branches of the Polish army. Great Britain and France have decided not to appeal to the league of nations in behalf of Poland, because of the inability of the league to take any decisive action.

"The American note," which the foreign office announced was being received from Washington, has developed into a mystery. The government has refused to give out the text or make comment, while press cablegrams from Washington say that no note has been sent.

According to the Matin, M. Kameneff, head of the Bolshevik trade commission, has confirmed in writing the offer of the Soviet government to recognize the Russian national debt if the Russian government is recognized. This newspaper suggests the taking over of the Russian railways as a guarantee.

The German embassy denies that the German government has offered any troops to the allies to fight the Russian soviet army. The German diplomats here contend that Germany will remain neutral in the war between Russia and Poland.

MOBILIZE NAVY

(International News Service) LONDON, Aug. 10.—Unofficial, but worthy reports, reached the foreign office today that the Russian navy is being mobilized with the apparent intention of attacking Reval and Helsinki, capital of Finland. Officials who gave out the information refused to comment upon it.

BRITAIN MARKS TIME

(International News Service) LONDON, Aug. 10.—Great Britain has decided to "mark time" pending the outcome of the negotiations between Polish and Russian envoys which are scheduled to open at Minsk tomorrow. The Russo-Polish plenipotentiaries, according to reports from Warsaw, will discuss both armistice terms and the preliminaries to peace. England and France are prepared to renew the blockade of Russia, making it more drastic than it has been at any previous time, but no decisive steps will be taken in this direction until after Premier Lloyd George has taken the country into his confidence and the Russians and Poles have had an opportunity to adjust their disputes at Minsk.

The Polish envoys crossed the Russian line late Monday. According to information from an authentic source, the armistice terms will be based upon the complete independence of Poland and non-interference in the

MOTOR INDUSTRY GROWS

Frequently users of motor vehicles read with dismay of another increase in the price of gasoline or an interview with an expert, predicting that that gasoline charges will continue to soar to new high levels. Naturally they seek a reason. Perhaps they may find it in figures announced by the National City Bank of New York. According to the bank's foreign trade department, the automobile manufacturers of the United States made, in the fiscal year just ended, their highest record in supply of foreign machines.

The total value of automobiles and accessories exported by American manufacturers in the fiscal year 1920 aggregates $275,000,000, compared with $138,000,000 two years ago and $30,000,000 in the preceding year. The value of automobile and accessories exported in the fiscal year of 1920 is nine times as much in the year before the war.

"The whole world," adds the Bank's statement, "seems to be demanding motor vehicles for passenger and freight purposes, and looking to the United States for its supply. The number of commercial cars exported in the first 11 months of the fiscal year 1920 was, according to the official reports of the Government, 21,656, against 11,154 in the same months of 1919, and the number of passenger cars, 103,146, against 33,412 in the corresponding months of 1919." Great Britain, which saw the practical qualities of the American commercial automobile during the war, took in the first 11 months of the fiscal year 1920, according to the above authority, over $5,500,000 worth of our commercial automobiles, against $2,500,000 worth in the same months of the preceding year. Cuba, which recognized the convenience and practicability in a tropical climate of the power-driven vehicle, as against that driven by animals, took of our commercial automobiles in the 11 months of the fiscal year 1920, 1,419 machines, valued at over $3,000,000, against 610 machines valued at a little over $1,000,000 in the same months of the preceding year. To the distant Dutch East Indies, the number of commercial machines sent was 440 against 309 in the same months of 1919, and only 68 in the corresponding months of 1918, and to our own Philippine Islands, 1,698 commercial machines in the 1920 period against 159 in the same period of 1919, while British Oceania, which consists chiefly of Australia and New Zealand, took 929 commercial machines in the 11 months of the fiscal year 1920, against 271 in the same months of 1919, and 176 in the corresponding months of 1918.

"Devil's dozen." The saying "devil's dozen" means the name as "baker's dozen," but the origin differs. It "connotes," as the metaphysicians love to say, 13 loaves of bread instead of 12, and it sprung from the idiotically superstitious attempt to explain the baker's dozen, which was 13 loaves. This latter practice of giving 13 loaves was due to the drastic penalties in England for shortweighting, and to be safe the baker threw in the extra loaf.

A TRAIN OF THOUGHTS FOR THE SABBATH AND OTHER DAYS

Profit and employment must go hand in hand. The washer woman cannot employ the use of coal to dry the clothes she washes, if she must do so at a loss. Men who plan for working wheat fields, cannot work the fields unless they can do so at a profit. Employers cannot furnish employment, if the transaction results in no profit.

True economic conditions and sound progress rests on the creation of real values. And since the creation of values is the work not of one man or of a few, but of all mankind, it is going to take the utmost cooperation on the part of every body in the world to keep things going as they should. Considerations like these make it imperative, that the same standards of right and wrong be established among all classes of people in all parts of the world. The Saviour, as you will recall spoke of His Kingdom as over the whole world. Any movement toward standardizing the world, so to speak, as to moral obligation, is always vigorously fought by the selfish and gain getting, everywhere.

Any limit that makes one individual respect the rights and dignity of the other individual or of society at large is always fought by the selfish and pleasure loving as an invasion of individual rights. Some do not even believe in binding marriages on this ground. And it was on this ground that the Senate opposed the covenant of the league of nations. The Senate wanted it so this nation could go to war when and for whatever cause it pleased. It wanted us to say to the world, "Do as you please, so you do not bother us."

It was a great thing, that Candidate Cox, came squarely out for "going into the league of nations." In connection with another statement of Governor Cox: The radical elements both in Capital and Labor, will resent his seeking to limit both organized labor and capital as to what they can do when differences arise, without regard to the rights and safety of the public.

Everybody and every thing now, is seeking to get away from law. But we will all have to come to it. Browning said nothing but the truth when he said: "All's love, but all's Law."

Now the greatest law of our being is COOPERATION. Take this law and apply it as regards the high cost of living. Candidate Cox, invoked it when in his speech of acceptance he spoke of towns and cities cooperating as to market facilities an dthe like.

Suppose cotton producers and sugar makers, should cooperate, such a plan would do away with so many middle men and put them to producing. It only partly used capital and the men would render unnecessary so much who are kept to watch over it and manipulate it. Such cooperation would bring down the cost of both cotton and sugar to the consumers. But such plans are easier made than put into effect. As long as human nature remains as it now is, we will always be wanting a lot of people to do our business for us and to beg us to take out insurance etc., and so the middle men for a season at least may feel as secure in his job as the direct producer does in his.

But however many middle men we use in our civilization, there is no law against our making them do in the neighborhood of right. But to get any body to do right, you must show them that it is to their interest. We must convince all, that the efforts made for growth and development are the efforts most worth while. It is all very well and necessary to make two blades of grass grow where there was only one. It is fine for those who have worked our mineral kingdom until ours is the "iron age" and ours a world of golden opportunity. Such work with the things God made. But who works also to make their personalities safe and reliable enough for God to use in future ages—they are the rare enough producers of this world—they have in their structure the very personality of God himself. They have realized a truth that "the kingdom of God is within you;" they have become one with God. The Allwise One can speak through those who are clean of life, intelligent, and of a single mind. He can do things through those who are honest and free from laziness. By the cooperation of such people, the world upheaval we are now experiencing, can be made one of God's great opportunities.

Instead of the world being allowed to leap from the Devil's mountain top of false vision into an abyss of chaotic despair now is a good time to teach that the hard doctrines of "a tooth for a tooth," "hate thine enemies" and "do others before they do you" are not to be practiced. It is a good time to let Love take up the harp of life. It is a good time to make the words of St. Paul come true, that "where sin did abound grace did much more abound."—J. E. Blair.

To Preserve Furs. Insects dislike pennyroyal: the smell of it destroys some, and drives others away. Take oil of pennyroyal, pour some into a saucer, steep it in small pieces of new cotton or wadding, and place where required. It is also well to place some between the mattresses, etc. When putting furs aside for the summer, fold carefully, with a little pennyroyal, and then wrap thoroughly in newspapers, gumming down the edges. Place in closely shutting drawers with a little camphor.

MERELY OF VALUE AS GUIDE

The Past, as Revealed by History, Worth While Only as It Points the Future.

The division of all history into ancient, medieval and modern, like the division of all Gaul, is a part of the stock of knowledge of every one who has enjoyed the advantages of education.

The statement would seem to admit of no question. Perhaps it is as reasonable a division of history as can be had without the expenditure of too much time and thought. At least it has the advantage of simplicity. Is it, however, the whole truth?

It is true if you only mean by it that certain periods of history began and ended at a certain date, but it is not true if you mean that the state of mind that belonged to ancient history ceased to exist at the fall of the Roman empire or that the character of medievalism stopped with the discovery of America.

The world is modern in time and in outward appearances, but antiquity and the Middle Ages are not yet done with us, nor will they be for long. They have left their indelible marks upon our thought, our social customs, and political institutions.

What is really modern in the world is like the tongue of a glacier penetrating down the mountain slope. The mass from which it came is far behind, moving so slowly that it does not seem to move. Only this small peninsula projects out into the unknown. In us, all that has been is represented. It holds us back and yet it points us forward, for history is valueless unless it is a guide for the future.—Milwaukee Journal.

The Italian language has more dialects than any other European tongue.

Canada used an average of 94.95 pounds of sugar per person last year.

The oldest lighthouses were those built by the Lybians and Cushites of lower Egypt.

IF HATS WERE MADE OF FLOWERS

If hats were made of flowers,
I think your party bonnet
Would be a satin tulip
With a touch of green upon it.

You'd wear for fur and frolic.
A crinkled daffodil,
With a crown quite comfortable
And a flaring yellow frill.

You'd choose for church a beauty;
The sweetest flower that grows
Would be your Sunday bonnet—
A soft, pink, ruffled rose.

A daisy crisp and snowy
Would be the choice for school;
Fresh hat every morning.
With scallops starched and cool.
For picnics and for rambles
A polished buttercup.

If hats were made of flowers,
How people would dress up!

Companion.

EXPRESSMEN GET 16 CENTS INCREASE

AWARD IS ANNOUNCED BY RAIL-WAY LABOR BOARD UNIONS PLEASED

(International News Service.)
CHICAGO, Aug. 10.—Increases in wages to employes of the American Railway Express company, which will total approximately $30,000,000 a year, were announced by the Railway Labor board here today.
About 75,000 persons will participate in the award.

The raise is a flat addition of 16 cents an hour to all classes of employes who come under the heading of employes and sub-ordinate officials, within the meaning of the transportation act.

The unions had demanded 25 cents an hour increase but union officials seemed well pleased with the additional 16 cents.

Paper Backing for Pictures.

To paste new paper backings on framed pictures, the paper, cut to the proper size, should first be floated in a pan of water until it is entirely wet.
The paste should be applied to the frame, and the paper, from which the actual drops of water have been squeezed, should be pressed into place upon the frame. As the paper dries it will shrink, making it a smoothly stretched backing.

PETEY BOY!

Just a night flash by fast mail to uncork you a real fuss-stirring idea that has five aces shaded!

Now, bolt this down:—no two people, unless they run a circus or write encyclopedias, ever agree offhand on which is a camel and which is a dromedary when you line the two up and check off one hump on one and two humps on the other. You can't do it with the sun shining!

Spill this "hump" question first time you're in a bunch of live ones—if you want to see fur fly! Never heard such a wind-jamming squall in my life as tonight when I passed it to our crowd! You know Betty Ellen Jones. Well, she said a dromedary was a he-camel hunting a date in the desert! And, Betty's "Vassar, '20"—rah, rah! All right, Betty!

All you've got to do is dig out your deck of Camel cigarettes. That "bird" out front clinches the argument—apparently—but!

In the classic language of bigger business circles—"you tell 'em Cricket, Katy did!"

Report your luck quick. Try it on old Jig Jones! And listen, Peter. I'll shortly slip you some smoke news that'll make Jake's ideas rattle like a tin can tied to a towser dog's tail! S'long!

Yours for warm socks next winter!

REVIVAL MEETING IS WELL ATTENDED

STRONG SERMONS PREACHED
AT THE FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH, DECATUR.

The third service of the revival of the First Baptist church of Decatur was held last night, with a good attendance considering weather conditions. The sermon was preached by Rev. Grover C. Walker, pastor of the South Side Baptist church, who is aiding Dr. Davison, the Pastor in the meetings, and who is expected to preach the sermons for the entire series.

Rev. Walker last night took the Golden rule as his text, as stated by the Master: "Whatsoever ye would that men should do to you, do you even so to them."

The preacher said that in the revival effort now before his hearers they should be careful not to pass up any person as unworthy of evangelistic effort. He said for the congregation to put themselves in the places of some of the non Christians, they knew, and to reflect on how they would feel if no one gave them an invitation to enter upon a better life. As the opening sermon of the revival Dr. Davison preached a profound sermon Sunday morning in which he called attention to the great need of the Gospel of all the peoples of the world, showing by statistics how many thousands are dying every day for the lack of the kind of treatment which a sincere practice of the Gospel would afford. The singing program is proving of great merit as led by E. A. Henry, assisted by the choir of the church.

Fraternal Friendship.

A curate of a very nervous temperament was constantly making awkward remarks intended as compliments. Having distinguished himself in an unusual degree during a gathering of clergy at the bishop's palace, he was taken to task for his failings by a senior curate who was one of his companions on the way home. "Look here!" said the senior decidedly. "You are a donkey! Why cannot you keep quiet instead of making your asinine remarks? Mind you, I am speaking to you now as a brother!"

GOT BILL'S GOAT

He Simply Couldn't Understand About Wife's Hands.

Doing Only a Small Part of Housework Allotted to His Helpmate His "Fins" Were a Sight, but Hers, Never.

Bill is wearing gloves! Any time you see Bill wearing gloves know ye that something has occurred.

It may be a death and Bill may be going to attend the funeral, or it may be that Bill is bound for a wedding, or else there is always the chance that the Improved Order of Jointists is going to have some sort of a ceremonial and that Bill is going to be a participant. It was a knowledge of this peculiarity which caused all to look at Bill in an inquiring sort of way when he came in 'tother night and, which prompted Joe to ask: "What's the big idea, Bill, that you've got your fins covered?"

"Wife sick."

Bill said no more. You'll agree that it was far from a satisfactory explanation. Joe voiced the sentiment when he remarked, petulant like, "that's a h—! of a reason!"

It was plain Bill wasn't going to be voluble on this subject of "them" gloves. Now if there is one thing in this world that Joe delights in more than another it is in pecking away at Bill, and Bill equally enjoys seeking to harass that person's nanny.

"I said that wasn't much of a reason," repeated Joe. "My wife's been sick and I didn't wear gloves; don't see no reason on earth why you should be wearing gloves just because the Missus is ill, unless you're expecting her to pass over and are making preliminary arrangements for the services."

That nettled Bill. "Smart, aren't you," he asserted. "It's the great wonder of my life that some of the funny papers like the Undertakers' Herald haven't engaged you to conduct their humorous column. You're about as funny, as, as—as a stick of wood. Now you're so darned inquisitive, just look at them."

Bill peeled off the gloves and displayed his hands.

Say, but you ought to have seen 'em. Red! A fresh boiled lobster was a dark blue compared to those hands!

"There's the answer," says Bill. "The wife's been sick and I've been doing the housework. I didn't mind it much at first, sort of fun, you know. Made me think I was some cheese around the house. Didn't do it just because I wanted to, but because I had to. Couldn't get any help and the wife had to be cared for, had to have a bite to eat and the house had to be looked after. I did it; yes, I did. I cooked and I swept and I washed dishes and, believe me, I did some chore, but gosh almighty, I don't understand it yet, why my hands got so blasted red."

"Just look at 'em." Again Bill displayed those hands. "Look at 'em; aren't they beauties! Honest, the only thing I can think of every time I look at those hands is Joe's nose before the first of last July."

"Those hands, I say, began to get red. They got redder and redder until they're what you see displayed before you. Will they stop there? I dunno. But this here is what gets me: When the wife is on her feet doing the work, she does 100 times as much as I've been doing; she not only washes the dishes, but she scrubs the floors and washes the clothes and cleans the house and gosh only knows what and, by hooky, I've yet to see her hands when they look even slightly red. What's the answer? Tell me?"—Sam, in Lewiston Journal.

Like Many Another.

His father had taken him out to the golf course. That evening he seemed to be ill at ease. "Willie," said his mother, "what is the matter with you? I wish you'd stop scratching yourself." "I don't know what's the matter, but I guess I must have got some of those golf bugs on me," was Willie's reply.

Lovers' Communication.

When the petals of the great laurel magnolia are touched, however lightly, the result is a brown spot, which develops in a few hours. This fact is taken advantage of by the South American lover, who pulls a magnolia flower, and on one of its pure white petals writes a motto or message. Then he sends the flower, the young lady puts it in a vase of water, and in three or four hours the message written on the leaf becomes perfectly visible, and remains so.

In Kentucky three men were shot to death in a fight about a dog which one of them had killed. Some men never live long enough to learn that when a dog becomes personal property the tie of pride and affection makes the animal a serious proposition to be trifled with, and that many men were born to love dogs. This reminds us that in the happy days of boyhood our most faithful and devoted friend was an old pointer named Carlo. Never did we eat a lunch out of doors without sharing it with the devoted Carlo, and that noble and loving dog invariably manifested his gratitude by shaking himself vigorously and letting us in a reciprocal way have about 50 per cent of his most active fleas.—New Orleans States.

Just Got Over a Cold

Look out for kidney troubles and backache. Colds overtax the kidneys and often leave them weak. For weak kidneys—well, read what an Albany man says:

J. W. Ezell, Prop., grocery, 1301 Fourth avenue, says: "Some years ago my kidneys became affected, I believe from a cold and sharp pains of the back took me in the small of my back. When I stooped or lifted anything, I would get sudden twinges through my kidneys and I couldn't rest comfortably at night. Mornings I arose unrefreshed and was usually tired. I had headaches, dizzy spells and spots continually passed before my eyes. I learned of Doan's Kidney Pills and got a box and used them as directed. They relieved me immediately. Two boxes entirely cured me of this trouble."

Above statement given April 28, 1911, and on February 28, 1918, Mr. Ezell, said: "I have had no return of kidney trouble since taking Doan's Kidney Pills some years ago and I cheerfully confirm the statement I gave Doan's at that time."

Amusements"MAGDA'S" GREAT CAST AT*STAR WEDNESDAY

Clara Kimball Young's new screen play, "Magda," taken from the famous stage classic of the same name, is a triumph in motion picture production. No expense has been spared in its preparation, and aside from Miss Young's own splendid interpretation of the title role, she is supported by a company of high ability.

Her leading man is Thomas Holding, who first came to this country with Hugh Ford and later appeared in a number of successful film plays, among them "The Eternal City." His work with Pauline Frederick gained him a strong following and he later played the lead with Jane Grey in "The Fighting Chance" and "The Great White Trail." As Magda's pastor, hopelessly in love with her, attempting always to interpose between her and her irascible parent, he gives an artistic performance and is ably supported by Edward Kimball in the role of Magda's father. The latter, strangely enough, is also Miss Young's father in private life and aside from his own paternal knowledge, brings to bear on his interpretation of the part, long years of experience in the legitimate drama.

"THE DARK MIRROR"STRIKING PICTURE*PRINCESS WEDNESDAY

The remarkable alertness of the big motion material for the screen is illustrated by "The Dark Mirror," which stars Dorothy Dalton, and will be shown at the Princess Theatre on Wednesday. The story is by Louis Joseph Vance. No sooner had its opening chapters appeared in a popular magazine as a serial than the Famous Players-Lasky Corporation recognized its unusual and dramatic qualities and started negotiating for it. The result was that the picture was completed before the concluding chapters of the story appeared in the magazine.

Miss Dalton has two contrasted roles—the rich society debutante and the belle of the Chinatown underworld, whom she greatly resembles. By a freak of fate, the daughter of the rich is mistaken for the girl of the slums and involved in a wild series of adventures. Huntley Gordon is the leading man. The picture was produced by Thomas H. Ince for Paramount Artercraft release.

BRITISH HONOR IS IN PERIL IN INDIA

AMRITSAR MASSACRE IS THEME FOR WRITER'S "EYE OPENER"; TELLS OF MANY WRONGS.

By Earl C. Reeves

(International News Service)

LONDON, Aug. 10.—"British honor and good faith are gravely imperilled in India today. Whether they survive or whether they are accounted as naught is the grave question with which the British people are faced."

B. G. Horniman gives this warning to his countrymen in a new book, "Amritsar and Our Duty to India." Horniman backs up his main subject, the Amritsar massacre, in which General Dyer ordered his troops to fire into a packed mass of unarmed natives, with a history of the causes of unrest in India.

"If the British people believe that their own interests and safety are inseparable from the Indian connection," he concludes, "let them realize that the only assurance of that connection lies in full recognition of India's right to responsible self-government now, and without equivocation; for nothing is more certain than that the road to infinite trouble in India and ultimate separation lies along the tedious way of half-hearted reforms and the claim to determine for India from time to time what she is entitled to determine for herself—the sort of government under which she is to live."

The recently passed bill providing for reforms in the Indian Government makes no essential changes, Horniman charges, and he refers to it "as sometimes humorously called Mr. Montagu's Home Rule Act."

The writer opens with an analysis of India's sacrifices and sufferings during the war. The war, he writes, brought almost unbearable hardships to the people of India, whose economic condition is always deplorable.

"The Government did nothing to lighten the burden," he writes. "They aggravated it in many ways."

Foodstuffs were shipped to the fronts, prices jumped, profiteering was rampant, control started late and was inefficient, and yet the people "never wavered in the loyalty of their attitude toward the Allies' cause."

"They believed that the war was being waged for the freedom of all, and the reiterated declarations of one British statesman after another, and the expressed ideals with which President Wilson came into the war, encouraged them in the high hope that their freedom as a full partner in the Empire must inevitably follow the winning of freedom for others by the help of their sacrifices."

Recruiting, says Horniman, might have been more successful "if they had not been hopelessly officialized and conducted in many instances, especially in the Punjab, by the methods of the old English press gangs in the French wars."

War Heroes Are in Financial Trouble

(International News Service)

LONDON, Aug. 10.—"Will the heroes of war become the outcasts of peace?"

That is the question propounded the nation by the Daily Express, which points out that after July 31 a quarter of a million ex-soldiers and ex-sailors will no longer receive the Government's out-of-work donation.

At present 180,000 of these men get the British equivalent of $5 weekly from the State. Most of the men are married and have several children. They have been unable to get work since demobilization, which was completed several months ago.

The Government is considering further extension of the unemployment role in worthy cases.

"Something will have to be done and done quickly," declares H. Griffin, secretary of the national ex-soldiers federation. "You can't have these 250,000 men who have fought for their country walking the streets destitute."

Great Demonstration and Sale All This Week

Don't Miss It! Get the Secret of Amazing Efficiency and Economy in This Oil Range

Tomorrow—and all week—our greatest demonstration and sale of Red Star Oil Ranges will be in progress. Don't fail to come! But come early—as our quota of Red Star Ranges is positively limited by the factory. Come and see why this beautiful Oil Range is such a wonderful success, how it actually makes its own gas from kerosene—and why it ends, for all time, the limitations of ordinary oil stoves. It is now being used in thousands of farm and town homes.

Mr. R. B. Cromwell, Factory Representative, Will Be With Us WEDNESDAY and THURSDAY, August 11-12

RED STAR

Detroit Vapor Oil Stove

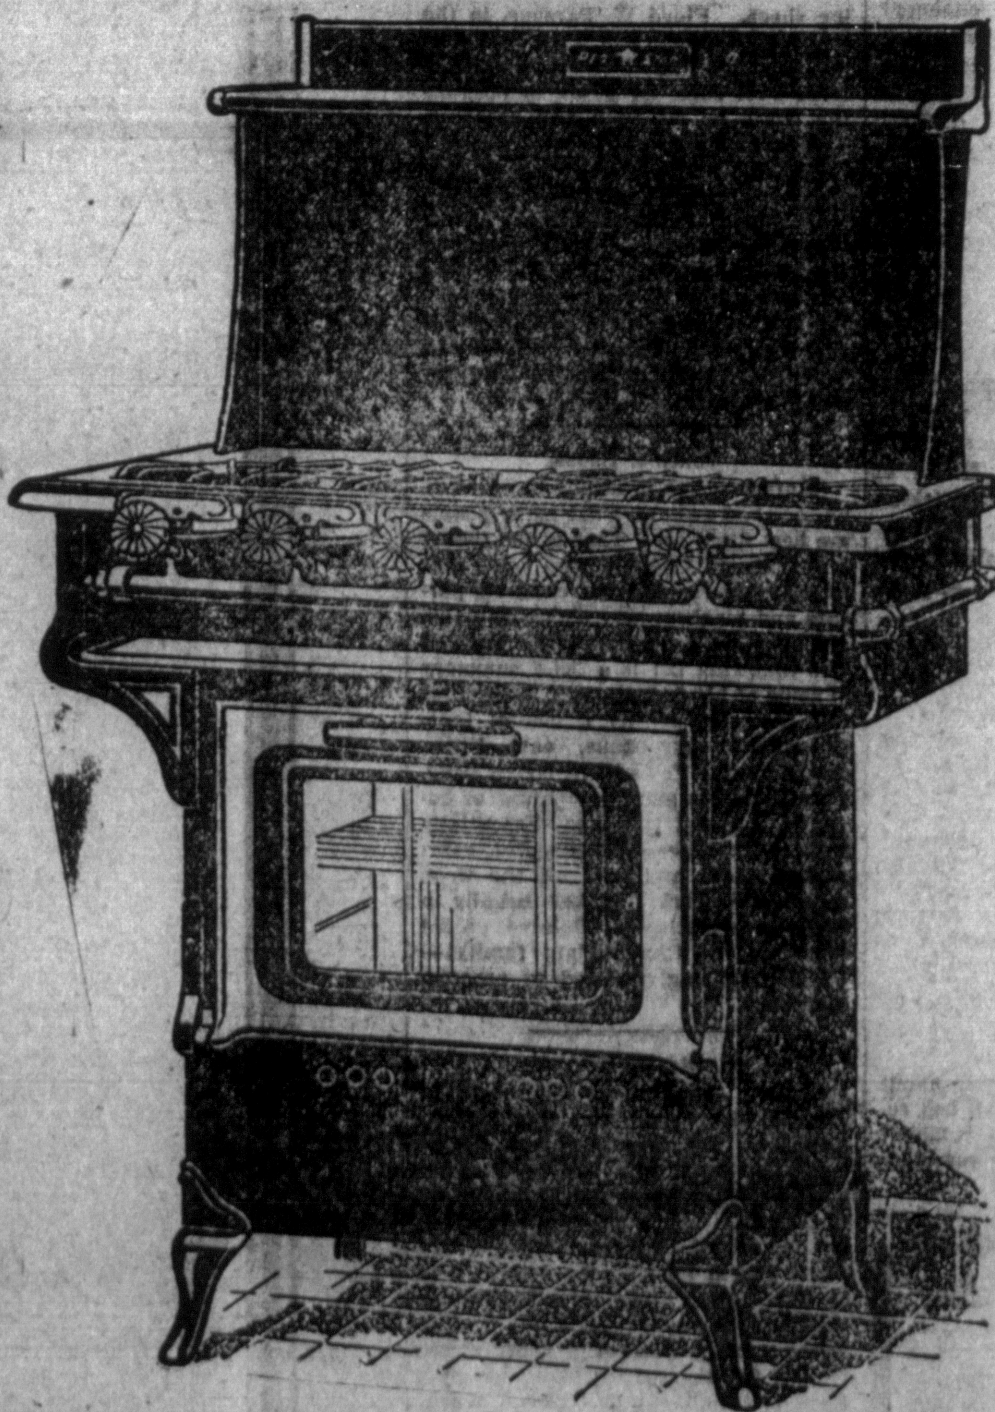

Come and see why this famous oil burning stove permits you to roast, fry or bake ANYTHING as quickly and perfectly as with the finest city gas range. Lights as easily. Heats as quickly. Operates as cleanly. And the heat is under perfect control all the time—you simply turn the valve regulator.

See the Wonderful "Double Ring Flame" Burner

See how the burner is made without wicks or asbestos rings. See how it concentrates a "Double Ring Flame" directly beneath your cooking utensils. The heavy cast iron burner gets red hot. Gives, for the first time, perfect vaporization. Thus it positively prevents all smoke and odor and increases heat efficiency by at least 30 per cent. In fact, you get 19 hours of perfect cooking and baking heat from each gallon of fuel. Far cheaper than city gas ranges.

Come and witness the great demonstration. Get our special terms for this demonstration. You owe it to yourself to get a "Red Star" in your home at once.

FILIPINOS RATE HIGHLY

(Special Correspondence.)

(Copyright, 1920, Phila. Pub. Ledger)
MANILA, P. I.—Using the group intelligence scale devised by Dr. Arthur S. Otis, eminent psychologist, Prof. Abram Van H. Hartendorp in the Bureau of Education of the Philippines procured remarkable results in testing psychologically a group of 250 Filipino teachers. Two hundred young men scored an average of 122 and fifty women scored 115. One young man scored 189; a young woman scored 171; three young men scored 163, 164 and 166, respectively, and forty-four men and women scored above 142.

About 142 these ratings are equivalent to the army rating of very superior intelligence. The rest show superior intelligence. The Board of Education contemplates establishing a department of applied psychology for the more intelligent selection of young men and women for employment as teachers.

Cultivated Chestnuts.

Southern Californians are wondering whether the growing of the sweet chestnut is not destined to be one of the coming industries of the state. The appearance of a fine row of chestnut trees on the outskirts of the city of Santa Ana, in Orange county, California, suggested to a recent eastern visitor the fact that the chestnut as a future crop for California may rival before many years the enormous walnut output.

Youthful Solomon.

Hearing his father grumbling about the high price of coal, a small boy remarked quite solemnly: "I wouldn't buy any more of it if I were you, daddy—we only burn it."

RESEMBLES THE HUMAN HAND

Skin of Bat's Wing Stretches From the Finger Tips to Ends of Toes and Nails.

The wing of a bat is a most wonderful instance of adaptation to a special end, for it is nothing but a greatly modified forelimb or hand.

If you spread out your hand and imagine the four fingers grown enormously long, while the thumb remains short and stumpy and that the skin between the fingers has also been stretched until it extends from tip to tip of the fingers and on along the side of the body to join the hind foot, you will have a good idea of the structure of a bat's wing; it is simply a much exaggerated hand.

The elongated bones serve, like the ribs of an umbrella, to keep the skin stretched and taut when the owner is in flight.

When the bat alights it doubles up its "fingers," the skin falls in wrinkly folds and using its thumb joints as forefeet it is able to run about almost as quickly as a mouse.

The skin of the wings not only joins the hind limbs but extends from them to the tail, thus making the rudder with which the bat can steer when flying, and, when the tail is brought up beneath the body, forms a bag or receptacle which is of use to its owner.

CREDITS TREES WITH SENSE

Scientist Declares They Possess at Least Three Which Also Belong to Human Race.

The curator of the British Guiana museum, James Rodway, who is an eminent botanist, declares that plants possess at least three of our five senses—feeling, taste and smell—and that certain tropical trees smell water from a distance, and will move straight toward it.

But trees not in the tropics can do as well. A resident of an old Scotch mansion found the waste pipe from the house repeatedly choked. Lifting the slabs in the basement paving, he discovered that the pipe was completely encircled by poplar roots. They belonged to a tree that grew some thirty yards away on the opposite side of the house.

Thus the roots had moved steadily toward the house, and had penetrated below the foundation and across the basement until they reached their goal, the waste pipe, 150 feet away. Then they had pierced a cement jointing and had worked their way in long, tapering lengths inside the pipe for a considerable distance beyond the house. There seems something almost human in such unerring instinct and perseverance in surmounting obstacles.—New York Post.

Sheep-Raising Industry.

Sheep raising is perhaps the oldest of all industries, for it was practiced even before agriculture. Wool is a product of cultivation or domestication, for there are no wild animals which closely resemble the wool bearing sheep. Floyd W. Parsons, in the Saturday Evening Post, says that with the discovery that cloth could be made from wool came an effort to improve the fleece by selection and breeding. The early Romans were most successful in this pursuit, and their endeavors along this line resulted in developing a fleece of great fineness. After the conquest of the Iberian peninsula Roman sheep were introduced into Spain, where they so greatly improved the native flocks that even during Roman supremacy Spanish wool led the world's markets, a prestige held for many centuries.

Telltale Faces.

"Nature seems to decide in advance, by face and gesture, what many people are best fitted for." That is the theory of Dr. Henry Chellow, who holds that by studying the faces of children, parents and teachers may obtain valuable guidance as to their future careers. The following list is a brief summary of some of his deductions: Triangular full face—Essentially a mental type. Unromantic, strenuous, eats little; thinks much. Feels little, sleeps little. Usually makes good accountant or engineer. Round full face—Essentially a vital character. Sentimental, easy-going; sleeps and eats all the time, does little work. Makes usually a good mathematician. Pointed profile (such as the Chamberlain family)—Uncompromising, inclined to procrastination.

In Old New York.

Chelsea, in the neighborhood of Twenty-third street and North river, New York city, was the home of Clement C. Moore, who wrote the childhood classic, "Twas the Night Before Christmas." One of the admirable old houses of Chelsea is that where dwelt Edwin Forrest, the actor. It is at 430 West Twenty-second street, a substantial-looking square fronted house, with a door of a great single panel. On the spot where the New York city hall stands, George Washington paraded his little army on a July day in 1776, and with grave solemnity a document was read to them that had just been received from Philadelphia, and which was forever to be known as the Declaration of Independence.

Largest Bible.

The largest Bible in the world is more than five feet two inches high and three feet six inches wide. When opened flat it measures seven feet ten inches across. It is intended for use in a special religious movement.

For Curtain Rod.

In inserting a rod in curtains if a thinble is placed over the end of the rod it will run easily through the heading. This eliminates the possibility of tearing and saves a great deal of time and patience.

DRESS IS MAKING SLAVES OF WOMEN

UGLY FEMALES ADORN SELVES WITH LATEST CREATIONS; MAKES 'EM WORSE.

Written for International News Service.

By COUNCILLOR DONALD CLERK
Whose Outspoken Views on Women's Dress Has Attracted Much Attention.

TONI, N. Aug. 10.—Most decidedly ugly women are the abject, groveling slaves of fashion. That has been the case since the early Britons clothed themselves in the skins of animals, for, if the pictures are to be believed, their coverings were the slavish copies of each other's, both in ugliness, scantiness and want of fit.

Since women refuse to be emancipated from their thralldom, the responsibility of those who set the fashion is the greater.

What should be the aim of the leaders of feminine fashion? Comfort, beauty and simplicity—the things entirely lacking in the dress of a fashionable woman. If offenses were punished by the compulsory wearing of uncomfortable and ugly clothes, the crime would be a serious one that condemned a woman of only average good looks to appear in public in the fashionable outdoor costume of today.

I have seen girls and elderly women in sleeveless, low-necked, bare-backed, short-skirted gossamer "creations," with their thin legs in thinner silk stockings, and actually with anklets, shivering in a bus or car—objects not for admiration, but for commiseration.

"I cannot help noticing that the plainer the woman the more absurdly she exposes herself. It may be laid down as a sure rule that the really handsome, or even moderately good-looking woman does not wear extravagant "undress," any more than the girl with a good natural complexion rouges or powders her face.

I will say nothing about the want of brains that prevents a woman knowing whether a certain style of dress is beautiful and becoming, or only vulgar and tawdry. Is it now an accepted fact among men that the over-dressed young man is always brainless, and if not the fool of the family, the butt and joke of the office?

The other evening I failed to persuade my fellow-councillors to ordain that the bathing-dress worn by women in our bath should be of a uniform pattern of modesty, and I believe it was mainly rejected because they thought I meant it should be actually a uniform.

I have no objection to variety in woman's dress, either in the house, street or bath, so long as it is beautiful, modest and simple. I am no dour enemy of beauty. I admire and appreciate it, as any man does and ought.

It is because I want women to look their best, and so encourage men to make them their wives, whom they can respect and be happy with, that I object to their attiring themselves in styles that, even though not altogether ugly, must create an impression on the man that the woman is destitute of that refinement and delicacy which command the respect and admiration of the men who make the test husbands.

A happy marriage without mutual respect is an impossibility. If it think this to be a bigoted crank and a prude, then I am content to be so considered.

The Universal Color.
The professional mixer of paints knows that fierce color discord can easily be created by a misplacing of green. But Nature never misplaces it. Even blue stands without tying, cheek by cheek with Nature's greens. Larkspurs and lobelias go quietly arm in arm with their respective foliage. Any rose of any tint or color is best set off by a green rose leaf. Every spring or fall color, pale or florid, will shade pleasantly into green on the very same leaf.
